

Search strategies for scientists:

Information literacy for postgraduates and researchers

Are you at the beginning of your PhD project and do you want to enhance your search strategies? Come and learn how to search and find the academic information in your chosen field more effectively!

During this workshop you will learn:

- how to explore the academic information resources relevant for your research,
- how to assess the retrieved information,
- how to stay up-to-date in your project,
- how to use the basics of bibliometrics in order to underpin your research
- and how to publish in scientific journals.

First you will get some theoretical instructions before we focus on practical trainings in your chosen field.

Trainer:

Dr. Diana Klein is the subject librarian for medicine, chemistry and pharmacy at the University Library of Würzburg. She is also responsible for journal management and open access publishing.
